Death of William Lyon Mackenzie

William Lyon Mackenzie is dead. The leader of the Canadian Revolution is worthy of far more notice than many a man who has been more successful. In December of the rebellious year above mentioned Sir John Colborne captured the Canadian village of St. Eustache. This victory on the part of the English Government broke the revolutionary spirit of Lower Canada, but only inflamed that of the upper province. William Lyon Mackenzie, then a prominent Canadian politician, led a body of insurgents to Toronto, and called on Sir Francis Head, then Governor of Canada, to consent to the settlement of the provincial difficulties by a Convention. This proposal was refused. The insurgents then prepared to commence hostilities, but from that failure in their reinforcements which characterized the whole movement of the campaign, they were compelled to retreat to Navy Island, a small outbreaking shelf of land in the Niagara, about two miles above the Falls. Van Renselaer, an American sympathizer, who had espoused the revolutionist side, and a graduate from West Point, brought them a force of five hundred men, and emboldened by this addition to his forces, Mackenzie established a provisional government. He may thus be called the first (though unsuccessful) dictator of independent Canada. He issued a proclamation offering, in the name of the new government, three hundred acres of land and one hundred dollars to all volunteers to the army on Navy Island. In the same document a reward of five hundred pounds was offered for the apprehension of Sir F. Head, the Governor of Upper Canada, and, as a further inducement to volunteers, it was stated that "ten million acres of land, fair and fertile, would soon be at the disposal of the patriotic." But, with a want of forethought we are not now able to understand, no mention was made of letters of marque.

Lord John Russell, then at the actual head of the British Cabinet, now interfered with Mackenzie by the introduction of salutary reforms. Clay, Calhoun and Benton, in our own Senate, spoke strongly of defending the national honor, toward the Canadians and their refugees to this country, even if it were necessary to embroil us in a war with England. It is noticeable that at this juncture Rhett of South Carolina characterized Mackenzie as a "rebel chief," a "traitor in the eyes of the law," and laid down as a principle that when refugees of this kind took shelter in another country, and were not surrendered, it was the right of the outraged government to seize them with a strong hand. "Suppose," said he, "that subjects of Great Britain should combine with discontented and factious citizens, with the avowed purpose of overturning our republican institutions, how would we bear it, and how would we tolerate the idea that munitions of war, provisions and firearms should be furnished these, our enemies, by British subjects? Unquestionably we would consider ourselves greatly wronged, and would be very slow in recognizing any spirit of friendship as dictating such measures." Gen. Scott was sent to the border, with orders to assemble as many soldiers as were necessary to protect the rights of the United States and English citizens. No mention was made of the rights of the "rebels." So far as our Government was concerned no such class existed. They were not even belligerents. Still there was no spirit of pusillanimity. Before the close of Congress large supplies and extraordinary powers were voted to the President, in case a war should become necessary with England in protection of the national honor. So long as amicable relations continued, however, the Government was assisted by private citizens in its efforts to preserve the inviolability of the neutrality. On the outbreak of difficulties one hundred and fifty of the prominent citizens of Buffalo, where the "sympathizers" were in greatest force, bound themselves to sustain the Federal officers in carrying out the laws. Many important arrests were made. Among others, William L. Mackenzie was taken prisoner, and held to bail for $5 000. A large force of royalists, assisted by several hundred Indians, were assembled at Chippewa, between whom and the rebels on Navy Island for several days a constant cannonading was kept up.

The "rebels" at length, wearying of this style of warfare, and having nothing to hope from the United States, left the island and quietly dispersed themselves along the two shores of the lake. After long privateering against the Canadian lake trade, and many hostilities on both sides, American sympathizers were captured and put to death under the English law. At the meeting of the Circuit at Albany, more than sixty "true bills" were found against persons implicated in the Canadian difficulties, including, amongst others, Mackenzie and Van Rensselaer. On the lakes the most active measures were taken on both sides to exterminate the "pirates," as they were called. The United States never went heartily into the cause of the Canadian Revolution, though furnishing so many sympathizers. Mackenzie, therefore, ultimately failed. The rebellion was broken up, he was discomfited, but he was not captured. He was outlawed by the Canadian Government, and escaped into the United States, where he was received with open arms. In 1849 he was pardoned by the British Government. In Canada the people took up a subscription for him, and enabled him to live economically, though with the loss of all his property, until his death. With the exception of the homestead and annuity thus provided for him, he died poor.—New York Express.

More of the Dead-Alive Story.—The Sacramento Union supplies the following additional particulars of the extraordinary story published by the Bulletin recently:

Information has been received by his father and brothers, through letters from those who are well acquainted with him, that Abner Elliott, a citizen of Lake County, who was in the fight last Fall at Pyramid Lake, and who was left on the field with wounds supposed to be mortal, is still living. He received a ball through the left arm, which lodged in his side; and a second through the left side, above the hip—but neither of the wounds proved fatal. He was captured by the Indians, and being acquainted with the Chief—Winnemucca—his life was spared. Elliott's father came to the State in 1842, and his sons were educated in frontier life, which included a pretty extensive acquaintance and intercourse with the Indians in the State, as well as with the Pah-Utahs east of the Sierra Nevadas, who often visited California. He was noted in the fight as one of the few who faced the Indians until shot down, and as the man with the telescope rifle who stepped out in front of the line every time he fired. Elliott left a wife and three children near Clear Lake; he was reported as among the killed, and six months after his wife accepted a second husband. He remained among the Indians nine months before he was so far recovered as to enable him to make a successful effort to join his family and friends. At Placerville, on his way home, he learned that his wife, supposing him dead, had married again, and he immediately returned to Nevada Territory, with the view of remaining permanently with the Pah Utah Indians. It is reported that a party of them met him a few miles this side of Ragtown, with a considerable amount of gold dust in their possession, and volunteered to lead him to the locality where they obtained it. The father of Elliott, who also resides near Clear Lake, has gone to Nevada Territory to try and induce his son to return again to his home. These facts we obtain from Captain A. McDonald, to whose company Elliott belonged.

Crinoline Riot at Cracow.—Many of the rabbis of Cracow and the neighborhood have condemned the use of crinoline, and interdicted females so attired from appearing at the synagogue. At Tarnow, however, a few days ago, some Jewesses, leaning on the arms of their male friends, boldly presented themselves at the synagogue in the proscribed garments. But a number of low Jews, arming themselves with sticks and knives, drove them away, and compelled them to seek refuge in an adjoining house. Several persons, fearing the women would be injured, placed themselves before the house. A fierce conflict ensued, and blood was shed on both sides, but nobody was killed.

"Husband," said a lady of the new school to her indulgent spouse, as he resumed his pipe after supper one evening, "You must buy our dear Georgiana an English Grammar and spelling book; she has gone through her French, Latin, Greek, music, drawing and dancing, and now she must commence her English studies."

and during its continuance. The Hartford Convention was the offspring of the Peace Party. The members sought to embarrass the Government; declared "it was immoral and irreligious to rejoice at our country's victories;" pressed on with their peace propositions, and peace schemes, for the purpose of overthrowing the Administration, in order to ascend to power; but the country sustained itself in the war; the victories achieved by our arms gave us character over the wide world; Americans gloried in being American citizens; and honorable peace was obtained—and the Peace Party sunk into insignificance and contempt. In a few months after the close of the war, scarcely a man could be found to acknowledge that he ever belonged to it.

And now a rebellion has been got up in the South to break down the Government and build up a Southern Republic based upon negro slavery—the key-stone of its arch to be negro-slavery. Its supporters have seized the forts of the Government, its armories, its treasuries, its mints, and have organized armies which are pushing their way North, determined to possess Washington, and to destroy the Government instituted by our fathers. And now we have another Peace Party. They pronounce the war "unnatural" and "fratricidal." All their words, all their phrases, are stolen from the tories of the Revolution—the Peace Party of that day—and the Federalists, the Peace Party of 1812. The doleful predictions made after the rout on Long Island, in the Revolution, and the surrender of Hull, in 1812, are now as solemnly repeated after the disaster at Manassas. Our fathers were warned to give up the contest by the old Peace Party; and we are now warned by the Peace Party of our day to give up. The traitorous advice was unheeded then, and the Republic was saved. It will be unheeded now, and future generations will bless our memories.

We know that this Peace Party profess to be patriots, and some of them even profess to love the Union. But their double dealing and treachery cannot be misunderstood. Human nature has not so changed that a man can be a friend and an enemy at the same time, or safely run between two hostile camps—one day a patriot and the next a traitor. THERE ARE BUT TWO SIDES TO THIS CONTEST. Whoever is not for the Republic, willing to aid it, if need be, with his purse and his sword; whoever does not set his face against any peace which compromises the honor of our people, or who would rather see liberty die that a Slavery Republic might live—will hereafter be his neighbors' scoff, his own shame, his children's terest and principal, by A. D. 1900. On, then, to the contest without fear, and without reluctance, stinting nothing to redeem the life and honor of the nation."

SCALPING KNIVES AND TOMAHAWKS.—The rebels deny that they endeavored to enlist the savages in their service; but here is a proof of their falsehood. Albert G. Pike, who was commissioned by Jeff. Davis to "treat with the Creek nation," makes the following report:

"Notwithstanding a heavy outside influence, a treaty advantageous to both parties was made with the rulers of the Creek nation. Before entering upon the consideration of the treaty, it was voted, by a unanimous vote of the Council, to go with the South, treaty or no treaty. The principal men have been as true as steel to the South from the beginning of negotiations, and the nation ratified their treaty by a unanimous vote in council, every town being represented. Their regiment will be ready in a few days, and probably a half-dozen companies more."

The Helena (Arkansas) Shield of the 10th August, mentions that a large body of Indian warriors are already in the field, destined for Missouri. It says:

From C. W. Adams of this county, who arrived at home a few days since from the northern part of this State, we learn that on last Monday week thirteen hundred Indian warriors—Southern allies—crossed the Arkansas river near Fort Smith, on the way for McCulloch's camp. These Indians were armed with rifle, butcher-knife and tomahawk, and had their faces painted one half red and the other black. We also learn that a regiment of mounted Texans likewise crossed the Arkansas at or near Fort Smith for the same destination. Scalping-knives and tomahawks, therefore, are to be added to the perils of this war. On one side, at least, no mercy will be shown.

THE REIGN OF TERROR IN RICHMOND.—A foreigner, just arrived at New York from Richmond, presents society as living under a reign of terror. Where they banish men and confiscate their property for fidelity to the Union and the Government, how could it be otherwise? No man there hardly dares criticise the new order of things. To be critical is to be heretical, and to be heretical is to be suspected of treason, and to be the object of suspicion is one of the gravest offences. He says—"I was not sorry to learn that a tinge of sadness sometimes comes over the countenances of Beauregard, Lee, Johnston and Lay, (the latter General Scott's old aid,) as they talk of war upon their old country, flag and the Union."

The statement that Gen. Sumner is to be superseded in command of the Department of California by Col. Wright is denied positively by the General. Col. Wright left on the 24th for Los Angeles, to take charge of the troops in that region. Whenever Sumner moves with the new regiments, Col. Wright will return to take command during the absence of Sumner.

by the Africa.

The political news is unimportant.

England is about to send three more regiments to Canada.

Sales of cotton for two days 27,000 bales; market closing unchanged. Breadstuffs better and provisions quiet. Consols 92¼, 92¼.

A proclamation issued by Governor Magoffin of Kentucky, says the government of the Confederate States and the State of Tennessee and all others concerned, are hereby informed that Kentucky expects Confederate or Tennessee troops to be withdrawn from her soil unconditionally.

The subscription at Philadelphia to the National Loan, September 13th, amounted to nearly $200,000, and at Buffalo at the same date it amounted to over a quarter of a million dollars. The subscription is coming in rapidly.

The following anecdote is strictly true. It is contained in a letter from a young gentleman who went out in a vessel for St. Thomas: "We were chased by a privateer off King's Channel, on Sunday morning. The villain was close in under land, in a small sloop, with about twenty-five men. When he discovered us, we were nearly becalmed. He gave chase and came down very fast on us. I thought there was no chance to escape but by stratagem, and having on board a man whom I could metamorphose into anything, I said to the Captain that he had better make a gun of Billy Luly, and give chase in turn. We accordingly went to work, put a black cap on Billy's head, stretched him fore and aft on the keel of the boat, with a rope made fast to his heels, so that we could slide him on the centre of gravity freely, and pointed his head to the enemy. Having rigged up a 'long tom' the next thing was to fire it, and this we did by discharging a pistol into a barrel, and raising a smoke by throwing ashes into the air. The trick succeeded—the sloop tacked and made off; we hauled on a wind and pursued her close in under the land then tacked ship and stood into St. Thomas. Thus were twenty-five men driven off by four."

BUT ONE HOPE FOR THE REPUBLIC.—The New York Leader very truly says:

There is but one hope for the Republic. It must assert itself, crush out rebellion and compel the fear and respect of its enemies abroad and at home, or it is lost! There is no middle ground—there is no middle course. Let the men of the people shake off this discouragement, and recognize at once our duty and our power to triumph, and the work will soon be done. Then—the duty of the present met—we can easily take care of the future.

A Richmond paper boasts that the Confederate army at Manassas "is spreading out its wings right and left." It must be prepared to fly.

Swett's Grape Bitters, or Restorative Wine, manufactured under the supervision of Mrs. A. M. Swett, the celebrated Clairvoyant Physician, and prepared from roots and herbs of great medicinal virtue, combined with the pure juice of the California Grape—a certain remedy for Liver Complaint, Debility, Biliousness, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Impaired Appetite, Impure Breath, &c., and all diseases requiring a powerful Liver Invigorator and Tonic. Warranted the best remedy ever invented for diseases peculiar to females, such as Leucorrhœa, or Whites, Weaknesses, &c. Sold by all Druggists, and by DANIEL SWETT, Proprietor, 535 California street, San Francisco. aug2d6m

The Medical and Surgical Institute of Dr. L. J. CZAPKAY is already secured in a position which places it, as well as its proprietor, far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy, with others, an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical stars of this age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equalled him in this country; as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma, and the honorary ad eundem degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for more extended labors, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has bent his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he has become so great an expert, that he is now regarded as the leader in this branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most extensive journals. The Doctor's offices are at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the sworn certificates of remarkable cures in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in corresponding, please enclose $10 in their letters and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., San Francisco, Cal. Laws of the United States.

Passed at the First Session of the Thirty Seventh Congress.

[Public—No 24.]

AN ACT making an appropriation to pay the expenses of transporting and delivering arms and munitions of war to the loyal citizens of the States of which the inhabitants now are or may hereafter may be in rebellion against the Government of the United States, and to provide for the expenses of organizing them into companies, battalions, regiments, or otherwise, for their own protection against domestic violence, insurrection, invasion, or rebellion.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the sum of two millions of dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended, under the direction of the President of the United States, in supplying and defraying the expenses of transporting and delivering such arms and munitions of war as in his judgment may be expedient and proper to place in the hands of any of the loyal citizens residing in any of the States of which the inhabitants are in rebellion against the Government of the United States, or in which rebellion is or may be threatened, and likewise for defraying such expenses as may be incurred in organizing and sustaining, while so organized, any of said citizens into companies, battalions, regiments, or otherwise, for their own protection against domestic violence, insurrection, invasion, or rebellion.

Approved, July 31, 1861.

[Public—No 25.]

AN ACT making an appropriation for the purchase of arms for the volunteers and regular troops of the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the sum of ten millions of dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the President of the United States, for the purchase of arms for the use of the volunteers and regular troops of the United States.

Approved, July 31, 1861.

[Public—No 26.]

AN ACT providing a committee to examine and report as to the compensation of all officers of the Government, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That for the purpose of scaling, equalizing, and reducing the compensation of the various officers of the Government, a Board of Commissioners is hereby organized to be composed as follows: Of two members of the Senate, to be appointed by the presiding officer of the Senate; three members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House; one officer of the navy and one officer of the army, to be appointed by the President. That said Board shall examine and report, as soon as practicable: First, a fair and just compensation for each officer of the Government; second, such provisions of law as will regulate the expenditure of all indefinite and contingent appropriations, including those for the courts of the United States; third, regulations for the more economical collection of the revenue; fourth, what officers or employments, if any, may be dispensed with without detriment to the public service.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That said commission have leave to report by bill or bills, or otherwise, to each House at the next session of Congress, and have leave to employ a clerk, at a compensation not to exceed four dollars a day for the time actually needed.

Approved, July 31, 1861.

[Public—No 27.]

AN ACT to increase the Medical Corps of the Navy.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Medical Corps of the Navy shall consist of eighty surgeons, and one hundred and twenty passed and other assistant surgeons.

Approved, July 31, 1861.

[Public—No 28.]

AN ACT to define and punish certain conspiracies.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That if two or more persons within any State or Territory of the United States shall conspire together to overthrow, or to put down, or to destroy by force the Government of the United States, or to levy war against the United States, or to oppose by force the authority of the Government of the United States; or by force to prevent, hinder, or delay the execution of any law of the United States, or by force to seize, take, or possess any property of the United States against the will or contrary to the authority of the United States; or by force, or intimidation, or threat to prevent any person from accepting or holding any office, or trust, or place of confidence, under the United States; each and every person so offending shall be guilty of a high crime, and upon conviction thereof in any district or circuit court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, or district or supreme court of any Territory of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not less than five hundred dollars and not more than five thousand dollars; or by imprisonment, with or without hard labor, as the court shall determine, for a period not less than six months nor greater than six years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Approved, July 31, 1861.

Legal Notice.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Multnomah County. A. M. A. Blanchet, Complainant, vs. Oswald Travaillot, Defendant. In Chancery.

TO OSWALD TRAVAILLOT, Defendant: You are hereby notified that A. M. A. Blanchet has this day filed in my office his bill of complaint, and commenced a suit against you, in which he claims that on the sixth day of June, A. D. eighteen hundred and fifty seven you made and delivered to him a certain promissory note for the sum of six hundred dollars, payable ten months after date with interest at the rate of two per cent. per month, and at the same time made, acknowledged and delivered a certain mortgage deed upon lots numbered three and four in block number three, in Couch's claim of addition to the City of Portland in the county aforesaid, as security for the payment of said note; and complainant prays for a decree of foreclosure and for the sale of the said mortgaged premises to pay the amount due upon said mortgage, to-wit: The sum of six hundred dollars and interest [illegible] since the twentieth of September A. D. eighteen hundred and fifty-nine, and for a judgment against you for any balance which may remain unpaid after the application of the proceeds of the sale of said property for the payment of said debt; and you are further notified that unless you appear in the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Multnomah, on the second Monday of November, A. D. 1861, and then and there answer the said bill of complaint the same will be taken as confessed, and the prayer thereof will be granted by the Court.

[L.S.] In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of this Court this 13th day of August, A. D. 1861.

SHUBRICK NORRIS, Clerk.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

Below we publish the certificates of three of the sufferers from the grasp of disease, who, having recovered their former health and impelled by gratitude, [illegible] their cases and remedial agent, and [illegible] authenticated by a Notary Public. The [illegible] importantly command their publicity, and [illegible] their perusal to the attention of all afflicted [illegible]

Certificate.—The undersigned, desirous [illegible] those who may be unfortunate enough to be [illegible] flicted where a permanent relief of their [illegible] obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly [illegible] sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for [illegible] recovery of his health. Borne down by [illegible] symptoms incident to the vicious practices [illegible] ble passion in youth, depressed in body and [illegible] to perform even the most trifling duty imposed [illegible] dinary avocations of life, I sought the advice [illegible] sicians, who at first regarded my disease as of [illegible] portance—but alas, after a few weeks, and in [illegible] stances, months, of their treatment, I found, to [illegible] able horror, that instead of relief, my symptoms [illegible] more alarming in their torture, and being [illegible] my disease being principally confined to the [illegible] would be of little consequence, I despaired of [illegible] my health, strength and energy, and as a last [illegible] with but a faint hope called upon Dr. Czapkay, [illegible] examining my case, prescribed some medicine [illegible] instantly relieved me of the dull pain and [illegible] head. Encouraged by the result I resolved to [illegible] immediately under his care and by a strict [illegible] his directions and advice my head became [illegible] ideas collected, the constant pain in my back [illegible] weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction [illegible] body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the [illegible] and evil forebodings, the self distrust and want [illegible] in others, the incapability to study, and want [illegible] the frightful exciting and at times pleasurable [illegible] night, followed by involuntary discharges, have [illegible] peared, and in fact, in two months after having [illegible] the doctor I felt as if inspired by a new life [illegible] but a short time ago I contemplated to end [illegible] mind. With the view to guard the unfortunate [illegible] into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem [illegible] offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. [illegible] and recommend him to all who may stand in need [illegible] cal advice, being assured by my own experience [illegible] under his care a radical and permanent cure will [illegible]

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: [illegible] last of your medicine and do not think I shall [illegible] more as I feel very well except that I have [illegible] g my strength yet, but soon will with the [illegible] It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since [illegible] your Institute, with my constitution all [illegible] entirely, and never thought you would be able [illegible] perfectly but thought you might be able to [illegible] to ease the pain in my back and head, and [illegible] ner as so that I would not get excited and [illegible] sything. Now that you know what I [illegible] judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery [illegible] symptoms and the removal of those sores and [illegible] my skin and the ulcers from my throat, and the [illegible] page of those emissions, which you said were [illegible] cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you [illegible] greatest my joy or my surprise, for except not [illegible] g my strength I feel as well as any man can [illegible]

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars [illegible] think myself cheaply cured. If you think any [illegible] benefited you may put this letter in the newspapers. [illegible] here me gratefully yours,

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire [illegible] I wish to lay before the public a case which [illegible] mendation, not only as an act of scientific [illegible] humanity also. About two years ago, I [illegible] causes unknown to me, was seized with a [illegible] which owing to my inability to meet the [illegible] quent upon a thorough medical treatment, and [illegible] agement which I met with on attempting it [illegible] such (I was then led to believe) as to defy the [illegible] physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of [illegible] thrown down to the ground without the slightest [illegible] and although insensible to the agonies, I yet [illegible] miseries of my life, and soon learned to look upon [illegible] would render assistance or shelter me from [illegible] mies who sought to prolong the existence of [illegible] While in this state, and having previous to [illegible] tasted the sweets of life, I once more was [illegible] seeking aid of a physician, and, by recommendation [illegible] upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my [illegible] and of my inability to reward him for his [illegible] of which, however, he at once undertook my [illegible] the blessing of God, I was once more restored to [illegible] health. Unable to reward him for this boon [illegible] present, and yet conscious of my indebtedness [illegible] due to myself and all afflicted to make the [illegible] order that those in need of medical advice may [illegible] cian in whom every confidence can be placed [illegible]
